A conical woven basket, likely made of bamboo and seaweed, is shown in a garden setting. The basket has a wide, flared top and a narrower base. The upper portion is woven with light-colored bamboo strips, while the lower portion is wrapped in thick, dark green rope. The basket is placed on a black, ornate metal stand with curved legs. The background consists of a green lawn and several tree trunks.

A black and white photograph of three woven baskets resting on a bed of smooth, light-colored pebbles. Two dark-colored baskets are positioned at the top left and top right, while a light-colored basket is centered in the middle. The baskets have a distinct woven pattern and a rounded, bowl-like shape.
